NOTICE, DISCLOSURE, AND DISCLAIMER

What Homeowner’s Should Know About Mold

Mold: Mold is a type of fungus. It occurs naturally in the environment and it is necessary for the natural decomposition of plant and other organic material. It spreads by means of microscopic spores carried by the wind, and is found everywhere life can be supported. Residential home construction is not and cannot be designed to exclude mold spores. If the growing conditions are right mold can grow in your home. Most homeowners are familiar with mold growth in the form of bread mold, and mold that may grow in bathroom tile.

In order to grow, mold requires a food source, This might be supplied by items found in the home such as, fabric, carpet, or even wallpaper, or by building materials, such as, drywall, wood and insulation, to name a few. Also, mold growth requires a temperate climate. The most growth occurs at temperatures between 40 F and 100 F. Finally, mold growth requires moisture. Moisture is the only mold growth factor that can be controlled in a residential home. By minimizing moisture, a homeowner can reduce or eliminate mold growth.

Moisture in the home can have many causes. Spill, leaks, overflows, condensation, and high humidity are common sources of home moisture. Good housekeeping and home maintenance practices are essential in the effort to prevent or eliminate mold growth. If moisture is allowed to remain on the growth medium, mold can develop within 24 to 48 hours.

Consequences of Mold: All molds are not necessarily harmful, but certain strains of mold have been shown to have adverse health effects in susceptible persons. The most common effects are allergic reactions, including skin irritation, watery eyes, runny nose, coughing, sneezing, congestion, sore throat and headaches. Individuals with suppressed immune systems may risk infections. Some experts contend that mold causes serious symptoms and diseases. However, experts disagree about the level of mold exposure that may cause health problems, and about the exact nature and extent of the health problems that may be caused by mold. The Center for Disease Control states that a link between the presence of toxic mold and serious health conditions has not been proven. At present there is no insurance coverage or rider available in the State of Washington that covers damage or loss, to property of body, due to mold.

What the Homeowner can do: The homeowner can take positive steps to reduce or eliminate the occurrence of mold growth in the home, and thereby minimize any possible adverse effects that may be caused by mold. These steps include the following:

1. Before bringing items in to the home, check for signs of mold. Potted plants (roots and soil), furnishings, or stored clothing and bedding materials, as well as many other household goods, could already contain mold growth.
2. Regular vacuuming and cleaning will help reduce mold levels. Mild bleach solutions and most tile cleaners are effective in eliminating or preventing mold growth.

ADDENDUM / AMENDMENT TO PURCHASE AND SALE AGREEMENT

The following is part of the Purchase and Sale Agreement dated _____, 20 __
between _____Mietzner Homes, Inc. _____ (“Seller”) and _____ (“Buyer”)
concerning: _____ (“the Property”).

IT IS AGREED BETWEEN THE SELLER AND BUYER AS FOLLOWS:

- 3. Keep humidity in the home low. Ventilate kitchens and bathrooms by opening windows or by using exhaust fans to remove excess moisture in the air, and to facilitate evaporation of water from wet surfaces.
- 4. Promptly clean up spills, condensation, and other sources of moisture. Thoroughly dry any wet surfaces or materials. Do not let water pool or stand in your home. Promptly replace any materials that cannot be thoroughly dried, such as drywall or insulation.
- 5. Inspect for leaks on a regular basis. Look for discolorations or wet spots. Repair any leaks promptly. Inspect condensation pans (refrigerators and air conditioners) for mold growth. Take notice of any musty odors, and any visible signs of mold.
- 6. Should mold develop, thoroughly clean the affected area with a mild solution of bleach and water. First, test to see if the affected material or surface is color safe. Porous materials, such as fabric, upholstery or carpet should be discarded. Should the mold growth be severe, call on the services of a qualified professional cleaning service.

DISCLAIMER AND WAIVER

Whether or not you as a homeowner experience mold growth depend largely on how you manage and maintain your home. Our responsibility as a homeowner must be limited to things we can control. As explained in our one year limited written warranty, provided by separate instrument, we will repair or replace defects in our construction (defects as defined as a failure to comply with reasonable standards of residential construction). We the builder, will not be responsible for any damages caused by mold, or by some other agent, that may be associated with defects in our construction, to include but not limited to property damage, personal injury, loss of income, emotional distress, death, loss of use, loss of value, and adverse health effects, or any other effects. Any implied warranties, including an implied warranty of workman like construction, an implied warranty of habitability, or an implied warranty or fitness for a particular use, are hereby waived and disclaimed.

This notice, disclosure, and disclaimer agreement is hereby appended to and made a part of the contract of sale. The consideration for this agreement shall be the same consideration as stated in the contract of sale. Should any term or provision of this agreement be ruled invalid or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction the remainder of this agreement shall nonetheless stand in full force and effect.

I acknowledge receipt of the notice, disclosure, and disclaimer agreement and have carefully read and reviewed its terms, and I agree to its provisions.
